Tilman J. Fertitta
Leslie L. Alexander

Owner

On October 6, 2017, the Tilman J. Fertitta era began as the owner of the Houston Rockets. Fertitta, a Houston native, is an accomplished businessman and has an unrivaled passion for success. Before he joined the ranks as an NBA owner, Fertitta was already recognized as a world leader in the dining, hospitality, entertainment and gaming industries. He is the sole owner of Fertitta Entertainment which owns not only the NBA's Houston Rockets, but also the restaurant giant Landry's and the Golden Nugget Casinos and Hotels.

Through his restaurant and hospitality company Landry's, Fertitta owns more than 600 properties in 36 states and in over 15 countries. He is also one of the largest employers in the nation with more than 60,000 employees. His restaurants include a signature collection of eateries, as well as more than 50 different restaurant brands and award-winning concepts. The Signature Group includes some of the world's premier fine dining concepts, such as Mastro's Steakhouse and Ocean Club, Morton's The Steakhouse, The Oceanaire, Vic & Anthony's, Brenner's Steakhouse, Grotto, Atlantic Grill, La Griglia and Willie G's; while the multi-unit restaurant brands include such well known favorites as McCormick & Schmick's, Chart House, Landry's Seafood House, Rainforest Cafe, Saltgrass Steak House, Bubba Gump Shrimp Company, Claim Jumper, Mitchell's Fish Market, Dos Caminos, Bill's Bar & Burger and Joe's Crab Shack. Additionally, Fertitta owns 50% of Catch—one of Los Angeles' and New York's most popular eateries.

He also owns and operates numerous gaming, hospitality and entertainment venues, including the iconic Golden Nugget Casino and Hotel brand, with 5 locations throughout the United States, including Las Vegas and Laughlin, Nevada; Atlantic City, New Jersey; Biloxi, Mississippi and Lake Charles, Louisiana. Fertitta also launched into the online internet gaming world in the state of New Jersey with GoldenNuggetCasino.com and has been recognized as the top iGaming operator in the country, receiving the top iGaming operator of the year award in 2016 and 2017. In the Houston/Galveston area, he owns the award-winning San Luis Resort, The Westin Houston Downtown and several other award-winning regional hotels. In early 2018, Fertitta will open Houston's newest ultra-modern, luxury destination, The Post Oak Hotel at Uptown Houston. His entertainment destinations include the Galveston Island

Historic Pleasure Pier, The Kemah Boardwalk, Downtown Aquarium Denver and Houston and Tower of The Americas in San Antonio which are all featured on the Forbes, Travel Channel and USA Today's top five lists of attractions.

An influential business figure, Fertitta stars in his own reality TV show on CNBC called Billion Dollar Buyer, currently in production for its third season. Fertitta is been frequently featured in the nation's top financial and industry publications. He is also a frequent guest of prominent national business programs on networks like CNBC, MSNBC and Fox. He is considered one of the foremost authorities in the restaurant, gaming, entertainment and hospitality industries.

Fertitta's incredible attention to detail is what differentiates a Fertitta business from others. Fertitta is well-known for flying 20,000 feet over one of his properties and spotting a burned-out lightbulb. Whether you are at a Rockets game at the Toyota Center, dining at one of his many restaurants world-wide or visiting a Fertitta hotel property, a positive and memorable customer experience is of the utmost importance. As he frequently states, "There are no spare customers."

Fertitta's many personal honors include - Entrepreneur of the Year Award from Ernst & Young and induction into the Texas Business Hall of Fame as the second youngest inductee. In 2012, he was named Amusement Today's Person of the Year, and in 2013, he was named Casino Journal's Executive of the Year and is one of Restaurant News' top executives almost yearly. Fertitta first debuted on the Forbes 400 list in 2012 and is referred to as "the world's richest restaurateur." In honor of his contributions to the travel and tourism industry in Texas, Fertitta was the recipient of the Texas Travel Industry Association's Heritage Award in 2016.

While Fertitta is thrilled to be the team's 10th owner and is committed to ensuring the Rockets' excellence, this isn't the first time he's dabbled in major league sports, nor is it the first time he has had an ownership interest in the Houston Rockets. In the early 1980s, Fertitta was a minority partner in the Rockets back when Charlie Thomas was the majority owner. Fertitta subsequently sold his limited partnership interest in 1993 when Leslie Alexander acquired the Rockets, but continued to serve as an advisory director during the franchise's championship seasons in 1994-95. He was also an original investor in the Houston Texans.

Fertitta also makes sure to support other sports teams in the city as his Landry's restaurant company owns the naming rights to the Crawford Boxes section of the Houston Astros' Minute Maid Park, a seating area beyond the left field wall.

Fertitta believes in the importance of giving back to the community and devotes a substantial amount of time to civic service and charitable organizations. He currently serves as Chairman of the Board – Houston Police Foundation, Chairman of the Board – Houston Children's Charity and is currently serving his fourth year as Chairman of the Board of Regents - University of Houston. He is on the Executive Committee of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, which is one of the nation's largest charitable organizations. Additionally, Fertitta serves on the boards of the Texas Heart Institute and Greater Houston Partnership. He and his wife Paige live in Houston with their four children, Michael, Patrick, Blayne and Blake.

"It's been a life-long dream of mine to own the Rockets," Fertitta said. "I've never wanted to own a professional team outside of Houston. It's my hometown."

For Fertitta, the Houston Rockets are more than just a basketball team, they're part of the Houston community. Under his ownership, he promises the fans and the City of Houston that the team will continue to play a major role in uniting the city.

"The Clutch City Foundation was formed by the Houston Rockets to strengthen our community by allowing us to assist those that are less fortunate and support organizations that improve our lives as Houstonians," Fertitta said. "We will be emblematic of all the good this great city has to offer by being champions both on and off the court. The entire Houston Rockets organization will be devoted to professionalism, philanthropy, and sportsmanship; and every year we will work as hard as we can in order to bring home a championship."

Mike D'Antoni

Head Coach

Mike D'Antoni [dan-TONE-ee] is entering his second season as head coach of the Houston Rockets after being named the 13th head coach in franchise history on June 1, 2016. He has over a quarter of a century of coaching experience, including 13 seasons as a head coach in the NBA with a career mark of 510-453 (.530).

Last season, D'Antoni was named NBA Coach of the Year after guiding the Rockets to a 55-27 mark after Houston went 41-41 in 2015-16. He became the eighth coach in league history to win multiple Coach of the Year awards, and joins Gregg Popovich as the only ones who are active. The National Basketball Coaches Association (NBCA) also named D'Antoni and Erik Spoelstra as co-recipients of the inaugural Michael H. Goldberg NBCA Coach of the Year award.

D'Antoni's first Coach of the Year award came after leading Phoenix to a franchise-high tying 62 wins in 2004-05. Over a four season span from 2004-05 through 2007-08, the Suns compiled a 232-96 (.707) mark, including back-to-back trips to the Western Conference Finals in 2005 and 2006.

In his first season with the Rockets, D'Antoni engineered an offense which set the NBA record for the most 3-pointers made in a single season with 1,181. Houston also finished second in the league in scoring with 115.3 points per game, tying for the second-highest scoring average in franchise history. D'Antoni was named Western Conference Coach of the Month in December after Houston went 15-2, tying for the most wins in single month in franchise history. He picked up his 500th win at Chicago on March 10, 2017, becoming the 30th coach in NBA history to accomplish that feat.

D'Antoni's previous stint as a head coach came with the Los Angeles Lakers from 2012-13 through 2013-14. He joined the team a few games into the 2012-13 season and led L.A. to its last playoff appearance. The following season saw Kobe Bryant limited to just six games due to injury.

From 2008-09 through 2011-12, D'Antoni served as head coach for New York. In his final full season in 2010-11, D'Antoni guided the Knicks to their first winning record in 10 years. Dating back to 1993-94, New York has averaged 100 points in a season five times, three of which came during the D'Antoni era.

D'Antoni joined Phoenix as an assistant coach in 2002-03 and took over head coaching duties 21 games into the following season. After winning just 21 games in 2003-04, Phoenix won 62 games in D'Antoni's first full season as head coach in 2004-05 while increasing its scoring average by 16.2 points per game. That marked the largest scoring increase from one season to the next by any team since the introduction of the shot clock in 1954-55.

The Suns play style under D'Antoni was viewed as revolutionary. At the time, Phoenix posted the NBA's three highest single season totals for 3-pointers made from 2004-05 through 2006-07. Prior to 2004-05, only three teams had more than 700 3FGM in a single season. Since D'Antoni's final season with the Suns in 2007-08, 73 teams have hit at least 700 3-pointers in a single season, including 25 teams in 2016-17.

D'Antoni's first NBA head coaching job came with Denver during the shortened 1998-99 season. He then spent a season scouting for San Antonio and another as an assistant coach for Portland before coaching Benetton Treviso to the Italian League title, the Italian Supercup and a spot in the Euroleague Final Four in 2001-02.

A dual citizen of the U.S. and Italy, D'Antoni enjoyed tremendous success as both a player and a coach in the Italian League, capturing numerous titles in both endeavors. In 2008, Euroleague Basketball named him one of the 50 Most Influential Personalities in European Club Basketball history. Prior to embarking on his international career, D'Antoni spent parts of four seasons playing in the NBA and ABA during the mid-70's.

Clutch "The Rockets Bear"

Now in his 23rd season as the Rockets mascot, Clutch the Bear has become one of the most celebrated mascots in sports.

Clutch is HOUSTON'S #1 FAN and can be seen cheering on his team at all Rockets home games and at numerous community events throughout the city of Houston. Whether he is creating impromptu comedy, throwing a cake in an opposing team fan's face, shooting silly string, signing autographs, dancing with the Power Dancers, doing out hugs, or performing on-court skits, Clutch is always a fan favorite. When Clutch isn't entertaining fans at Toyota Center, he is visiting fans all over Houston and around the world, having performed across the U.S. and internationally in twelve countries. Clutch was named the first-ever NBA Mascot of the Year in 2005 and took the award home again in 2013. He was inducted into the Mascot Hall of Fame in 2006.

Rockets Power Dancers

The Rockets Power Dancers have long been fan favorites at Rockets games and in the Greater Houston area for their tremendous energy, hard-hitting routines and love for the game. History of the Rockets

The Rockets franchise entered the NBA as the San Diego Rockets prior to the 1967-68 season, along with the Seattle SuperSonics, as the league expanded to 12 teams. The Rockets received their team name because it kept with San Diego's then-theme of a "city in motion," while reflecting the growth of space-age industries in San Diego. The 1967-68 Rockets compiled a league-worst 15-67 record, but were able to select University of Houston's Elvin Hayes with the first overall pick in the 1968 NBA Draft. As a rookie, Hayes scored an NBA-leading 28.4 points per game, helping the team to a 37-45 record and a playoff berth. The Rockets drafted Rudy Tomjanovich and Calvin Murphy in the 1970 NBA Draft, but were unable to produce a winning record in any of their four seasons in San Diego.

In June 1971, a group named Texas Sports Investments bought the Rockets franchise for $5.6 million and moved the team to Houston. During their first year in Texas, the Rockets played home games in Houston, San Antonio and Waco. In 1972, Hayes was traded to Baltimore. The 1974-75 Rockets produced the franchise's first season at .500 or better and first playoff series win. The franchise further improved two seasons later with the additions of John Lucas, the top pick in the 1976 NBA Draft, and Moses Malone, who had starred in the ABA the previous two years. The 1976-77 Rockets registered a 49-33 record and won their first division title, as 1977 NBA Coach of the Year Tom Nissalke guided them to the Conference Finals. Houston's record slipped the following season, as the team played most of the year without an injured Tomjanovich. He returned the following season to join Malone and Murphy in the 1979 NBA All-Star Game. That season, Malone averaged 24.8 points and an NBA-leading 17.6 rebounds to give the Rockets their first-ever NBA MVP. After the 1978-79 Rockets were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs, Del Harris was hired as head coach. In Harris' first season, the Rockets advanced to the Conference Semifinals.

The 1980-81 Rockets qualified for the playoffs in the season's final weekend with a 40-42 record. Malone averaged 27.8 points and an NBA-best 14.8 rebounds, while Murphy set NBA records with 78 consecutive free throws made and a single-season free-throw percentage of .958. Despite their sub-.500 record, the Rockets advanced to their first-ever NBA Finals, losing to Boston but becoming the first team from Houston to play for a championship in basketball, football or baseball. The following season, Hayes returned to replace a retired Tomjanovich, but the Rockets were unable to recapture the post-season magic. Despite Malone winning his second NBA MVP award with averages of 31.1 points and 14.7 rebounds, the 1981-82 Rockets lost in the first round of the playoffs. Malone was then traded to Philadelphia and the 1982-83 Rockets logged a franchise-worst 14-68 record. The Rockets replaced Del Harris with Bill Fitch as head coach at the season's end.

Houston used back-to-back poor seasons to obtain the first overall selection in both the 1983 and 1984 NBA Drafts. The Rockets picked 7-foot-4 Ralph Sampson in 1983 and 7-foot Hakeem Olajuwon from the University of Houston the following year to assemble the tallest frontcourt the league had ever known. Sampson won the NBA Rookie of the Year award in his first season, while Olajuwon finished second in balloting to Michael Jordan a year later. The 1984-85 Rockets compiled a 48-34 record during Sampson's and Olajuwon's first season together, but were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs. The following year, the Rockets rolled to a 51-31 record, won the Midwest Division, and upset the defending NBA Champion L.A. Lakers to advance to the NBA Finals, where the team fell to Boston for the second time in six years.

The 1986-87 Rockets advanced to the Conference Semifinals, as Olajuwon earned his first of three straight All-NBA First-Team selections and Sampson struggled with injuries. The next year Houston traded Sampson and Steve Harris to Golden State for Joe Barry Carroll and Eric "Sleepy" Floyd, marking the first time that two first overall selections had been traded for one another. After the 1987-88 Rockets lost in the first round of the playoffs, Don Chaney replaced Fitch as head coach. During the 1988-89 season, Olajuwon became the first player to collect 200 steals and 200 blocks in the same season. Despite the addition of Otis Thorpe, the 1988-89 Rockets lost in the first round of the playoffs. The following season, a trade for Vernon Maxwell could not prevent another first-round exit. With the addition of Kenny Smith, the 1990-91 Rockets overcame losing Olajuwon to injury for 26 games to finish with a 52-30 record and earn Don Chaney NBA Coach of the Year honors. A first-round exit followed by a 26-26 start to the 1991-92 season cost Chaney his job. Tomjanovich was promoted from assistant coach to interim head coach during the season before being named permanent head coach at the season's end. That offseason, the Rockets added Robert Horry via the 1992 NBA Draft.

Beginning with the 1992-93 season, Olajuwon's All-Star play elevated to an even higher level for a four-year stretch. In 1993, he won the first of consecutive Defensive Player of the Year awards, finished second in MVP voting, and earned the first of consecutive selections to the All-NBA First Team. The 1992-93 Rockets set a franchise record with an NBA season-best 15 consecutive wins and won the Midwest Division with a 55-27 record before losing in the Conference Semifinals.

History of the Rockets

On July 30, 1993, Leslie Alexander purchased the Rockets. The 1993-94 Rockets opened the year by tying an NBA record with a perfect 15-0 start. Houston went on to set the franchise record for wins with a 58-24 record, claiming the Midwest Division title. Olajuwon averaged 27.3 points, 11.9 rebounds and 3.71 blocked shots to win both the NBA MVP award and the NBA Defensive Player of the Year award. In the Conference Semifinals, two home losses to Phoenix prompted a Houston newspaper to post the headline "Choke City," but the Rockets responded to win the seven-game series and earn the moniker "Clutch City." Houston then defeated Utah in the Conference Finals to advance to the 1994 NBA Finals against the New York Knicks. No team reached 100 points in any game in the Finals and every contest was decided by less than 10 points. The Rockets won the seven-game series to secure the first-ever professional championship for a sports team from Houston. Olajuwon earned the Finals MVP award, becoming the first player to ever win this honor along with both the regular season MVP award and the Defensive Player of the Year award in the same season.

With another NBA Championship in 1995, the Rockets became the fifth franchise in league history to boast back-to-back titles. The Rockets played the role of underdog in their bid to repeat as champions, entering the postseason as the sixth seed in the conference with a 47-35 record. The Rockets midseason trade of Thorpe reunited Houston native Clyde Drexler with Olajuwon, his former teammate at the University of Houston. The Rockets became the lowest seed ever to win a title and the first team to ever eliminate four teams that had each won 50 or more regular-season games, knocking off Utah, Phoenix, San Antonio and Orlando. The Rockets swept Orlando in the 1995 NBA Finals, as Olajuwon repeated as the NBA Finals MVP.

During the 1995-96 season, Olajuwon became the NBA's all-time blocked shots leader and Tomjanovich became the franchise's all-time winningest coach. In the playoffs, the Rockets were unable to repeat as champions, falling in the Conference Semifinals. Prior to the 1996-97 season, the Rockets acquired Charles Barkley, whose addition propelled Houston to a 57-25 record and the Conference Finals. The 1997-98 Rockets hoped to make one last championship run in Drexler's final season, but Barkley tore a tricep muscle and Houston bowed out in the first round. The next year, the Rockets added Scottie Pippen to fill out the frontcourt of Olajuwon and Barkley. The Rockets notched their 15th consecutive winning season, but lost in the first round of the playoffs. Pippen was then traded to Portland in the offseason.

In the 1999-2000 season, Barkley played his final season and Steve Francis earned NBA Co-Rookie of the Year honors. The following season marked Houston's last year with Olajuwon, who requested a trade at the season's end. One year later, the Rockets found a new center with the first overall pick in the 2002 NBA Draft. Houston selected China's Yao Ming, who became the first-ever, number-one pick to come from an international basketball league. Following the 2002-03 season, Tomjanovich stepped down as head coach with a franchise-record 503 victories in 900 games.

On June 11, 2003, Jeff Van Gundy became the 10th head coach in Rockets history. In Van Gundy's first season, the Rockets moved into their new home Toyota Center, set several defensive records and returned to the playoffs for the first time in five years. On June 29, 2004, Houston acquired Tracy McGrady, in a seven-player deal for the 25-year-old two-time NBA scoring champion. In his inaugural season in Houston, McGrady became the first player in Rockets history to reach 2,000 points, 400 rebounds and 400 assists in a single season. McGrady also became the first-ever Houston player to earn Player-of-the-Week recognition four times in the same campaign. Overall in 2004-05, the tandem of McGrady and Yao helped lead the Rockets to a 51-31 mark and a first-round playoff series with Dallas, where the Mavericks prevailed in a decisive Game Seven at American Airlines Center.

The 2005-06 campaign was highlighted with Houston hosting the 2006 NBA All-Star Game, which marked the second time the contest was played in "Space City." Houston first held the midseason classic in 1989 before a then-record crowd of 44,735 at the Astrodome. McGrady scored a game-high 36 points for the West, while Yao led all players in votes received for a second straight season. The Rockets finished 2005-06 with a 34-48 mark, as McGrady and Yao played in just 31 games together due to injuries suffered by both players.

On April 3, 2006, Alexander named Daryl Morey as the team's Assistant General Manager. The Rockets also acquired Shane Battier from the Memphis Grizzlies. With the addition of Battier along with strong play from

History of the Rockets

Yao and McGrady, the 2006-07 Rockets blasted off to one of their best starts in recent years. Yao was named Western Conference Player of the Month for games played through Nov., becoming the first Rockets player to receive this recognition since Olajuwon. When Yao suffered a small fracture on his right anterior medial tibial plateau vs. the L.A. Clippers on Dec. 23, McGrady helped lead the Rockets to a 20-12 mark with Yao out of the lineup. Houston finished the season with a 52-30 mark, but lost a heartbreaking Game Seven to the Utah Jazz in the opening round of the 2007 NBA Playoffs.

On May 10, 2007, Alexander announced that Morey officially assumed his role as General Manager of the franchise. Morey took over the position from retiring Carroll Dawson, who was honored by Alexander with "Carroll Dawson Tribute Night" on April 16, 2007, where a banner bearing his name was hung from the rafters of Toyota Center in tribute to Dawson's 27 seasons with the Rockets organization. The offseason changes did not stop there, as the team and Van Gundy decided to part ways. Alexander then hired Rick Adelman as head coach. On July 12, 2007, Morey acquired the draft rights to Argentine forward Luis Scola.

In his first season, Adelman led the 2007-08 Rockets to a 55-27 mark. Houston captured 22 victories in a row from 1/29/08 through 3/16/08, which stands as the third-longest winning streak in NBA history. That accomplishment was even more noteworthy since Yao was lost for the remainder of the season after undergoing surgery to repair a stress fracture in his left foot on March 3, 2008. Another highlight during this record-setting season was Alexander honoring Olajuwon for his many contributions to the Rockets organization with the unveiling of a commissioned bronze sculpture in front of Toyota Center during a special ceremony on April 11, 2008. Even without Yao, Houston made the playoffs, but lost its First Round series vs. Utah.

In 2008-09, the Rockets posted a 53-29 mark and advanced past the First Round of the playoffs for the first time since 1997. In the Western Conference Semifinals, Houston took the eventual NBA Champion L.A. Lakers to Game Seven despite being without McGrady (microfracture surgery on left knee) and losing the services of Yao (broken bone in left foot) for the final four games of the series.

Despite playing the entire 2009-10 campaign without Yao (foot surgery), Houston registered a 42-40 mark to become the first team in the past 20 NBA seasons to finish above .500 without an All-Star. It marked just the 26th time in NBA history for a team to finish a season with a winning record and not make the playoffs. Aaron Brooks was named the NBA's Most Improved Player. The Rockets were also involved in a three-team, nine-player trade that brought Kevin Martin to Houston and sent McGrady to New York.

The Rockets secured a 43-39 mark in 2010-11, joining the 1970-71 and 1971-72 Phoenix Suns as the only two teams to miss the playoffs in two straight seasons despite finishing with a winning record in both campaigns. Houston's 2010-11 season also marked one of change, which began with Yao enduring yet another season-ending surgery. Following the season, the Rockets and Adelman mutually agreed to part ways.

Houston would name Hall-of-Famer Kevin McHale as the 12th head coach in team history on June 1, 2011.

Yao, who established himself as one of the top centers in the NBA and a global phenomenon, also announced his retirement from the NBA in his hometown of Shanghai, China on July 20, 2011. In his first campaign with Houston, McHale guided the 2011-12 Rockets to a 34-32 record.

On Oct. 27, 2012, Houston made a blockbuster deal to acquire James Harden from Oklahoma City and sent Martin to the Thunder. Led by the edition of Harden, the Rockets went 45-37 and returned to the playoffs. Harden recorded one of the most dynamic offensive campaigns in Rockets history by setting the team single-season record for free throws made (674) and becoming just the fifth player in club annals to reach 2,000 points in one campaign (2,023). The NBA All-Star Game returned to Houston in 2013, where Harden was selected to his first game. Harden also went on to collect 2012-13 All-NBA Third Team.

The Rockets again made headline on July 13, 2013 by acquiring three-time NBA Defensive Player of the Year Dwight Howard via free agency. The tandem of Harden and Howard helped led Houston to a 54-28 mark in 2013-14 along with another trip to the playoffs. Both players were named All-Stars with Harden also earning All-NBA First Team honors while Howard was selected to the Second Team.

Heading into the 2014-15 season, Morey continued to hone the supporting cast around Harden and Howard, adding veterans Trevor Ariza and Jason Terry via trades. Those investments paid off immediately, as the team won nine of its first 10 games. Despite Howard only appearing in half the games due to injury, Houston finished the season with a 56-26 mark and its first division title since 1993-94. The Rockets carried that momentum into the postseason, advancing to the Western Conference Finals for the first time since 1995-96. Harden earned All-NBA First Team honors for the second straight season and was runner-up for the MVP award.

Despite a slow start to the 2015-16 season, the Rockets remained vigilant and secured their fourth straight playoff appearance. Houston was led by All-Star guard James Harden, who averaged 29.0 points, 7.5 assists and 6.1 rebounds. He became the fourth different player in NBA history to average at least 29.0 points, 7.0 assists and 6.0 assists in a single season.

The Rockets re-established themselves in 2016-17, posting the third-best record in the league at 55-27 and advancing to the Western Conference Semifinals. Mike D'Antoni was named NBA Coach of the Year, while James Harden was a unanimous All-NBA First Team selection, again averaging career-highs in scoring (29.1 ppg; 2nd in NBA), assists (11.2 apg; 1st in NBA), and rebounding (8.1 rpg). Eric Gordon was named NBA Sixth Man of the Year and set the NBA single season record for the most 3-pointers made by a reserve in a single season (206). Houston set the NBA record for the most 3-pointers made in a season with 1,181.

On October 6, 2017, the NBA Board of Governors unanimously approved Tilman J. Fertitta as owner of the Rockets, thus completing his purchase of the team from Leslie Alexander.

Houston's native son, Clyde Drexler, originally gained fame with Hakeem Olajuwon on "Phi Slama Jama" at the University of Houston. Over a decade later, "The Glide" returned to his hometown to team up with "The Dream" to deliver the Rockets second consecutive NBA Championship.

On Feb. 14, 1995, Drexler was traded to Houston with Tracy Murray for Otis Thorpe and the rights to Marcelo Nicola on Feb. 14, 1995. In 35 regular season games with Houston during the 1994-95 season, Drexler averaged 21.4 points on .506 shooting with 7.0 rebounds. Drexler's value soared higher for the Rockets in the 1995 NBA Playoffs, when he served as the Rockets second-leading scorer during their second consecutive championship run. Drexler averaged 20.5 points, 7.0 rebounds and 5.0 assists in 22 playoff games for Houston, as the Rockets became the first-ever sixth seed to win an NBA title. In Houston's 1995 NBA Finals sweep of Shaquille O'Neal and the Orlando Magic, Drexler posted averages of 21.5 points, 9.5 rebounds and 6.8 assists.

Following the Rockets championship run of 1995, Drexler signed a contract extension to play with Houston for three more seasons. He became the 24th player in NBA history to register 20,000 career points on Nov. 24, 1996, at the L.A. Lakers. That same season he earned selection to the NBA's 50th Anniversary All-Time Team during the 1997 NBA All-Star Weekend. On Feb. 16, 1998, Drexler joined John Havlicek and Oscar Robertson as the only players in NBA history to collect 20,000 points, 6,000 rebounds and 6,000 assists in a career. In his final season with the Rockets, Drexler teamed with Houston Comets guard Cynthia Cooper to win the first-ever All-Star 2ball competition during the 1998 All-Star Weekend.

In 219 games with the Rockets, Drexler averaged 19.0 points, 6.1 rebounds, 5.4 assists and 1.88 steals. In Rockets history, his scoring average ranks tied for ninth all-time, his 363 3-pointers rank 11th and his 1,072 3-pointers attempted rank 10th. Drexler will best be remembered for his playoff performances with the Rockets, as he averaged 18.6 points, 6.5 rebounds and 4.9 assists in 51 playoff games with Houston. In Rockets playoff history, he stands tied for second in 3-pointers attempted, third in 3-pointers made, third in free throws made and attempted, sixth in scoring average, fourth in steals, fourth in assists, fourth in points, fifth in field goals made and attempted, seventh in rebounds, and ninth in blocks. Drexler teamed with Olajuwon to become the third teammate duo in NBA playoff history to each reach 40 points in the same game when he scored 41 points in Game Four of the 1995 Western Conference First Round vs. Utah.

After leading the Rockets in scoring during the 1997-98 season, Drexler retired from the NBA with career averages of 20.4 points, 6.1 rebounds, 5.6 assists and 2.03 steals in 15 seasons with Portland and Houston. He ranks 28th in NBA history with 22,195 career points and seventh with 2,207 career steals. Before being traded to Houston, Drexler played for 11-and-a-half seasons in Portland, leaving as the Blazers all-time leader in games played, minutes played, scoring, field goals made and attempted, free throws made and attempted, total rebounds, offensive rebounds and steals. He was named to the All-NBA First Team in 1992 and played on the gold-medal-winning "Dream Team" in the Olympics following that season. He received both All-NBA Second-Team (1988, 1991) and Third-Team (1990, 1995) honors twice. He was also named to the Rockets 1990s All-Decade Team. The 10-time NBA All-Star collected 25 career triple-doubles, with his last seven coming with the Rockets. Drexler participated in the playoffs in every year he played, placing him among the all-time NBA leaders in postseasons played. He reached the NBA Finals three times, as his Blazers lost to Detroit in 1990 and Chicago in 1992 before he won with the Rockets. His NBA Finals scoring average of 24.5 points per game ranks 11th in NBA history. He ranks 24th among all-time NBA career playoff scorers with 2,963 points.

Prior to entering the NBA, Drexler averaged 14.4 points and 9.9 rebounds per game in three seasons at the University of Houston. He teamed with Olajuwon and Larry Micheaux to form the "Phi Slama Jama" frontcourt that led the Cougars to the NCAA Final Four in 1982 and 1983. Drexler finished as Houston's all-time leader in steals with 268 career thefts. He had his #22 retired by the University of Houston along with Olajuwon's #34 in February 1997. Following his NBA career, Drexler served as the head coach at the University of Houston, as an assistant coach for the Denver Nuggets and currently serves as a broadcaster for the Rockets.

The fifth-leading rebounder and eighth-leading scorer in NBA history, Moses Malone is a legend that not only made a big impact on the game of basketball, but left a lasting impression with the City of Houston. A two-time NBAMVP in Houston, Malone averaged 24.0 points and a franchise-record 15.0 rebounds in six seasons with the Rockets. Malone also set the franchise single-season record for points in 1982 and rebounds in 1979. Malone was honored for his accomplishments in 2001 with his induction into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

"When you look back over the 25 years that I played, the game did me good," Malone said following his selection to the Hall of Fame. "The opportunity to be an All-Star for so many years, to be one of the 50 greatest players and then to get the call to be in the Hall of Fame."

After being named Parade High School Player of the Year in Petersburg, Virginia, Malone bypassed college and went directly into the American Basketball Association (ABA), playing with the Utah Stars and the St. Louis Spirits from 1974-76. Malone found himself on the Buffalo Braves roster when the ABA merged with the NBA in 1976. However, Malone only played two games with the Braves before he was sent to the Rockets on Oct. 24, 1976, in exchange for two first-round draft picks. During his first NBA season, Malone averaged 13.2 points and 13.1 rebounds, leading the league in offensive rebounds.

During the 1978-79 season, Malone won his first of three NBA MVP awards by averaging 24.8 points and a league-best 17.6 rebounds per game. The 1978-79 season also marked the first of four consecutive years in which Malone led Houston in points, rebounds and blocked shots.

Malone and his Rockets teammates made history together during the 1980-81 season as the second team ever to win a conference championship and reach the NBA Finals with a losing record. Despite Malone averaging 27.8 points and 14.8 rebounds per game in the 1980-81 season, most people didn't expect the Rockets to get past the first round with a 40-42 regular season record. However, the Rockets upset the reigning NBA Champion Lakers in the first round. Despite the Rockets inspired play in the playoffs, they fell to Larry Bird and the Celtics in the 1981 NBA Finals.

Malone averaged 31.1 points and a league-leading 14.7 rebounds en route to his second MVP award in the 1981-82 season. During that season, he set Rockets records with 13 consecutive 30-point games and three consecutive 40-point games.

On Sept. 15, 1982, Malone was traded to the Philadelphia 76ers in exchange for Caldwell Jones and their 1983 first-round draft pick. Malone claimed MVP honors for the regular season and the NBA Finals in his first season with the 76ers, teaming with Julius Erving to win the NBA title for Philadelphia.

After leaving Houston, Malone played 13 more seasons, including stints with Philadelphia, Washington, Atlanta, Milwaukee and San Antonio. He retired in 1995 with 29,580 points and 17,834 rebounds in 1,455 ABA and NBA games, ranking seventh all-time in major league points and third all-time in rebounds.

A 12-time NBA All-Star, Malone led the NBA in rebounding six times and averaged more than 20 points per game for 11 consecutive seasons. A three-time NBA MVP, Malone was named to the All-NBA First Team four times and the All-NBA Second Team four times. He was named NBA All-Defensive First Team once and All-Defensive Second Team once. Malone earned selection to the NBA's 50th Anniversary All-Time Team during the 1997 NBA All-Star Weekend. He was also named to the Rockets 1970s All-Decade Team in 2012. During his 19-year NBA career, Malone scored 27,409 points and grabbed 16,212 rebounds. In 1,329 regular season games, he averaged 20.6 points and 12.2 rebounds. In 94 playoff games, he averaged 22.1 points and 13.8 boards.

Malone holds a number of NBA records, including the career record for most offensive rebounds (6,731); single-season record for most offensive rebounds (587); single-game record for most offensive rebounds (21). He also ranks second all-time for most free throws made (8,531); fourth most free throws attempted (11,090); sixth most defensive rebounds (9,481); 10th most games played (1,329); and 13th most minutes played (45,071). He also holds the single-game record for most offensive rebounds in the playoffs (15).

- Retired as a player prior to the 1983-84 season; Number (23) was retired on March 17, 1984

Calvin Murphy enjoyed one of the greatest moments of his life on May 10, 1993, when he was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

"My only dream was that I wanted to start for my high school basketball team, the Norwalk High School Bears," said Murphy, who played his entire 13-year NBA career with the Rockets from 1970-83. "Going to the Hall of Fame was beyond my wildest dreams."

Murphy became the first Hall of Famer to play his entire career with the Rockets, as he averaged 17.9 points and 4.4 assists in 1,002 career games. In 2012, he was named to the Rockets 1970s All-Decade Team. He still ranks seventh on the all-time NBA free throw percentage list at .892. In 1980-81, Murphy posted a free throw percentage of .958 (206-215 FT), which was the NBA single-season record until Jose Calderon of Toronto hit .981 (151-154 FT) from the line in 2008-09. During Murphy's 1980-81 campaign, he also set a then-NBA record by making 78 consecutive free throws from Dec. 27-Feb. 20, which stood for over a decade until Micheal Williams of Minnesota made 84 straight at the end of the 1992-93 season.

The 5-foot-9 Murphy, who scored 17,949 career points, stands with Avery Johnson as the only two players under six feet to play in 1,000 NBA games. Murphy still owns the Rockets career record with 4,402 assists and holds the eighth best field goal percentage (.482) among NBA guards who have scored at least 15,000 points.

Murphy led the NBA in free throw percentage twice (1980-81, 1982-83) and finished among the top five in nine other seasons. Murphy, Ray Allen, Rick Barry, Chauncey Billups, Reggie Miller, Steve Nash and Mark Price are the only players in league history to have shot .900 or better from the line in six or more seasons.

Murphy stands with Hakeem Olajuwon and Kevin Martin as the only Rockets to rank in the NBA top-10 in four statistical categories in one season, as the Rockets guard accomplished this feat during the 1973-74 season. That year, Murphy ranked second in the NBA with 7.4 assists per game, fourth with a field goal percentage of .522, sixth with a free throw percentage of .868 and ninth with 1.94 steals per game. He also finished that season ranked 19th among scoring leaders with 20.4 points per game.

The San Diego Rockets selected Murphy in the second round in 1970 with the 18th overall pick. The former Niagara University star went on to earn NBA All-Rookie First-Team honors (other First-Team members: Pete Maravich, Bob Lanier, Dave Cowens and Geoff Petrie) and finish fourth in the Rookie of the Year balloting.

Murphy's best year came during the 1977-78 season, when he ranked fifth in the NBA with a career-high 25.6 points per game. He reached 30 points 23 times and scored 40 points three times during that year, including the Rockets single-game scoring record of 57 points vs. New Jersey on March 18, 1978. Murphy averaged better than 20 points in five of 13 seasons, including three consecutive years from 1977-80. In a season, he led the Rockets in points twice, assists three times, steals five times and free throw percentage 10 times.

Murphy scored better than 40 points seven times during the regular season in his NBA career – only Olajuwon (32), Elvin Hayes (25), Moses Malone (22) and Tracy McGrady (15) have had more 40-point games in Rockets history.

A 1979 NBA All-Star, Murphy had one of the most brilliant careers in NCAA Division I history. He was a three-time consensus All-American (First Team 1969 and 1970, Second Team 1968). Murphy averaged 33.1 points in 77 games – still the fourth-best average in Division I history (44.2 by Pete Maravich of LSU, 34.6 by Austin Carr of Notre Dame, 33.8 by Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati). His 68 points on Dec. 7, 1968 vs. Syracuse is still the third-best mark against a Division I opponent. Only five players in NCAA history averaged more points in a season than Murphy, who scored 38.2 points per game during the 1967-68 season. He scored 30 or more points in 42 of the 77 games he played for Niagara, reaching 40 points on 19 occasions and 50 points six times.

Murphy averaged double figures in points during every season he played organized basketball, spanning from high school to the NBA. Following his retirement as a player, he has worked with the Rockets organization as an assistant coach, a broadcaster and a community services advisor.

For two decades, Hakeem "The Dream" Olajuwon dedicated himself to winning for the City of Houston. By the end of his career, he had secured his place among the most legendary icons in sports. The NBA's all-time blocked shots leader brought Houston its first major sports championships by leading the Rockets to back-to-back NBA Championships in 1994 and 1995. In 2001, Olajuwon finished his 17-year career with the Rockets as the franchise's all-time leader in 26 regular season and postseason statistical categories.

Rockets Owner Leslie Alexander honored Olajuwon for his many contributions to the Rockets organization with the unveiling of a commissioned bronze sculpture in front of Toyota Center during a special ceremony on April 11, 2008.

Inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2008, Olajuwon also received several honors during his tenure with the Rockets. Upon entering the league, he was named to the NBA All-Rookie Team with Michael Jordan and Charles Barkley in 1985. Over the next 14 years, he was selected to All-NBA First Team six times (1987-89, 1993-94, 1997), Second Team three times (1986, 1990, 1996), and Third Team three times (1991, 1995, 1999). The following year, he posted averages of 33.0 points and 10.3 rebounds as the Rockets won their second consecutive NBA Championship. Olajuwon stands as the team's all-time playoff leader in postseasons played, games played, minutes, points, field goals made and attempted, free throws made and attempted, rebounds, assists, steals and blocks. The following season, he led the NBA with career highs of 14.0 rebounds and 4.59 blocks, standing as one of two rebounding titles and one of three blocked shots crowns. On March 29, 1990 vs. Milwaukee, he recorded a quadruple-double, marking one of 14 career triple-doubles.

In 1994, Olajuwon became the first player in league history to win the NBA MVP, Defensive Player of the Year and NBA Finals MVP in the same season. This also marked his second consecutive Defensive Player of the Year award and the first of two consecutive NBA Finals MVP awards.

Born in Nigeria, Olajuwon earned American citizenship and represented his country as a member of the gold-medal-winning 1996 United States Olympic Team. Selected to the Rockets 30-Year Team in 1998, he was also named to the Rockets All-Decade Teams of the 1980s and 1990s, and was chosen one of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA History on Oct. 29, 1996.

Rudy Tomjanovich reached the heights of success both on the court and the sidelines during three decades with the Rockets. After earning five All-Star selections as a player, "Rudy T" won the City of Houston its first-ever major championships by coaching the Rockets to back-to-back titles in 1994 and 1995.

Tomjanovich, who spent 33 consecutive seasons with the Rockets, holds the franchise record with 503 coaching wins and ranks third in Rockets history with 13,383 career points. He was involved in all four Rockets division titles – as leading scorer in 1976-77, assistant coach in 1985-86 and as head coach in 1992-93 and 1993-94.

Tomjanovich first joined the San Diego Rockets as the second overall pick in the 1970 NBA Draft after a storied collegiate career at the University of Michigan. The all-time leading rebounder in school history, Tomjanovich also holds the second-highest career scoring average at 25.1 points per game.

In Rockets history, Tomjanovich ranks third in career points, third in career games and fourth in career rebounds. He averaged 17.4 points and 8.1 rebounds in 768 games with the Rockets. In his 11-season career, he led the Rockets in scoring average four times and rebounding average once. In his second season, Tomjanovich averaged a career-high 11.8 rebounds with 15.0 points, as the team made its debut in Houston.

During the 1972-73 season, Tomjanovich posted team-leading averages of 19.3 points and 11.6 rebounds. He earned the first of four consecutive All-Star selections in 1974, as he led Houston and ranked seventh in the NBA with a career-high 24.5 points per game. He scored a career-high 42 points against Buffalo on Jan. 13, 1974. During the 1974-75 season, Tomjanovich led Houston with 20.7 points per game and guided the Rockets to their first-ever playoff series win. He averaged a team-leading 21.6 points for the 1976-77 Rockets and helped Houston to its first division title. Tomjanovich played only 23 games the next year, as he suffered a facial fracture on Dec. 9, 1977 versus the Lakers. Tomjanovich returned to the All-Star Game in 1979, averaging 19.0 points and 7.7 rebounds with Houston in his comeback season.

After Houston advanced to the 1981 NBA Finals, Tomjanovich retired on Oct. 2, 1981, having spent his entire playing career with the Rockets. His jersey #45 was retired on Jan. 28, 1982. In 2012, he was named to the Rockets 1970s All-Decade Team.

Beginning with the 1981-82 season, Tomjanovich spent two years as a Rockets scout. He became an assistant coach in 1983 and served in that role until being named interim head coach on Feb. 18, 1992. In the first 15 games with Tomjanovich at the helm, the Rockets responded with an 11-4 record — the best start for any coach in franchise annals.

Officially named the ninth head coach in Rockets history on May 20, 1992, Tomjanovich became the first coach in NBA history to guide his team from the lottery to a division title in his first full season. His coaching peers voted him The Sporting News NBA Coach of the Year in 1993. He was also named head coach of the Western Conference for the 1997 NBA All-Star Game and received NBA Coach of the Month recognition three times with Houston.

Tomjanovich posted a 503-397 (.559) regular season mark and 51-39 (.567) playoff record in 12 seasons with Houston, departing with franchise records for career wins and winning percentage. Tomjanovich resigned as Houston's coach following the 2002-03 season while undergoing successful treatment for bladder cancer. He was hired to coach the L.A. Lakers during the summer of 2004 before stepping aside later that season for health reasons. On the career coaching wins list, he ranks 26th all-time in NBA history with 525 victories.

Aside from his success in the NBA, Tomjanovich coached the United States Senior National Team on two occasions. He guided the United States Men's Basketball Team to a gold medal and an undefeated record in the 2000 Summer Olympics. Prior to the Olympics, Tomjanovich led a United States team of non-NBA players to a bronze medal at the 1998 World Championship of Basketball.

Tomjanovich stands with Basketball Hall of Famers Lenny Wilkins and the late Chuck Daly as the only people to coach teams to an NBA Championship and an Olympic gold medal. He also stands as one of eight coaches in NBA history to possess 500 career wins and multiple NBA championships.

While injuries may have shortened Yao Ming's NBA career, it did not curtail his global impact on the sport of basketball, nor the level of respect he garnered from fans, teammates, or his contemporaries.

Yao was the first overall pick by Houston in the 2002 NBA Draft. The Shanghai native became the first player drafted No. 1 who did not play collegiately in the United States.

Yao spent all nine of his seasons with the Rockets, averaging 19.0 points 9.2 rebounds and 1.89 blocks while shooting 52.4% from the floor and 83.3% from the line. He is one of nine players in NBA history with career averages of at least 19.0 points, 9.0 rebounds and 1.80 blocks (blocks became an official statistic in 1973-74).

Voted an All-Star in each of his eight seasons played, having missed 2009-10 with a foot injury, Yao broke Michael Jordan's record for the most fan votes in a single season with 2,558,278 in 2004-05. In addition, Yao was named All-NBA Second Team twice (2006-07, 2008-09) and Third Team three times (2003-04, 2005-06, 2007-08).

As a rookie in 2002-03, Yao appeared in all 82 games with 72 starts, averaging 13.5 points, 8.2 rebounds, 1.7 assists and 1.79 blocks. He finished second to Amar'e Stoudemire in voting for NBA Rookie of the Year and was selected to the NBA All-Rookie First Team. He was also the first rookie to start an All-Star Game since Grant Hill in 1995.

Over four seasons from 2005-06 through 2008-09, Yao averaged 21.9 points and 10.1 rebounds, joining Kevin Garnett as the only players to average at least 20.0 points and 10.0 rebounds during that span.

In 2006-07, Yao averaged a career-high 25.0 points along with 9.4 rebounds, 2.0 assists and 1.96 blocks. He became the 10th different in NBA history to have averaged at least 25.0 points, 9.0 rebounds, 2.0 assists and 1.90 blocks in a single season.

Prior to joining the Rockets, Yao spent five seasons playing for his hometown Shanghai Sharks of the Chinese Basketball Association, averaging 23.4 points and 15.4 rebounds. In his final season with the Sharks in 2001-02, Yao averaged 32.6 points, 19.0 rebounds and 4.8 blocks while leading the team to its first championship.

Yao was also a member of the Chinese National Team from the age of 18. As a 19-year-old in the 2000 Olympic Games, he averaged 10.5 points and 6.0 rebounds. Yao averaged 20.7 points and a tournament-best 9.3 rebounds in the 2004 Olympics and in the 2008 Olympic Games, he ranked second among all players in scoring (19.0 ppg) and third in rebounding (8.2 rpg).

On July 20, 2011, Yao announced his retirement from the NBA after injuries forced him to miss the entire 2009-10 season and limited him to just five games played in 2010-11. He was later enshrined into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in 2016, receiving the first ever direct elect nomination from the International Committee. Yao had his No. 11 retired by the Rockets during a halftime ceremony on Feb. 3, 2017.

Following his playing career, Yao returned to China and purchased his former team, the Sharks. In 2017, he was named President of the Chinese Basketball Association.

Yao has served as a tremendous ambassador for the sport as well as a great humanitarian, through contributions made by his Yao Ming Foundation and his work with organizations like the Special Olympics. In 2008, he was named the United Nations Environment Programme's first-ever "Environmental Champion."

- Assistant Coach with Rockets under four Head Coaches (1980-96)
- Named Executive Vice President of Basketball/General Manager on July 26, 1996
- Only person on coaching staffs of all four Rockets teams to advance to NBA Finals
- Inducted into the Paris Junior College Hall of Fame in 1991
- Enshrined in the Baylor University Hall of Fame in 1998
- Entered the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame in 2001
- Inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame in 2003
- Retired as General Manager after the 2006-07 season
- Honored with "Carroll Dawson Tribute Night" on April 16, 2007

Affectionately known as "CD," Carroll Dawson was honored by Houston Rockets Owner Leslie Alexander with "Carroll Dawson Tribute Night" on April 16, 2007, where a banner bearing his name was hung from the rafters of Toyota Center in honor of Dawson's 27 seasons with the Rockets organization as General Manager and as an assistant coach.

Dawson completed his 11th and final campaign as General Manager of the franchise in 2006-07. Prior to moving into the front office on July 26, 1996, Dawson worked as an assistant coach under four Rockets head coaches, aiding Del Harris from 1980-83, Bill Fitch from 1983-88, Don Chaney from 1988-92 and Rudy Tomjanovich from 1992-96.

Recognized as one of the top executives in the NBA, Dawson finished second in voting for The Sporting News NBA Executive of the Year in 2006-07. As General Manager, Dawson showed the ability to both bolster a playoff contender with veterans and acquire emerging talent as part of a youth movement. In his first few years, he made trades for Charles Barkley and Scottie Pippen to give a team led by Hakeem Olajuwon even more experience. Dawson then helped the Rockets acquire several young talents in the following years, including Cuttino Mobley, Steve Francis and Yao Ming.

In the summer of 2005, Dawson worked with Alexander to sign Yao to a maximum-value contract extension. In the summer of 2004, Dawson changed the face of the franchise by obtaining one of the NBA's top players in Tracy McGrady. The two-time scoring champion was acquired from Orlando in a seven-player deal that included Francis and Mobley.

Dawson holds the distinction of being the only person on the coaching staffs of all four Rockets teams that advanced to the NBA Finals, as Houston played for a championship in 1981, 1986, 1994 and 1995. He will always be known throughout the NBA for his work with frontcourt players and was credited with teaching Olajuwon his famous jump hook. Dawson coached many NBA All-Stars during his years in Houston, including Elvin Hayes, Moses Malone, Ralph Sampson and Tomjanovich.

Dawson's knowledge of the game was not limited to the NBA. Prior to the inaugural 1997 WNBA season, Dawson was commissioned by Alexander to help assemble the first Houston Comets team. He guided the efforts to bring Sheryl Swoopes and Cynthia Cooper to Houston, and then drafted Janeth Arcain in the WNBA Elite Draft. Dawson was also instrumental in the selection of Tina Thompson with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Finally, he worked with Alexander to hire Naismith Hall of Famer and WNBA All-Decade Coach Van Chancellor. Dawson served as Chancellor's top advisor as the Comets Executive Vice President of Basketball from 1997-2006 and helped craft the four-time WNBA Champions (1997-2000).

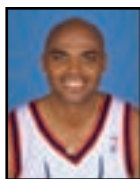

A native Texan, Dawson hails from Alba, a town with a population of 200 that sits about 75 miles east of Dallas. As a 6-foot-5 high school center, he led Alba High School to a 44-3 record as a senior. He then went on to win Junior College All-America honors at Paris Junior College (Texas) under Head Coach Boyd Converse. After two seasons at Paris, Dawson moved on to Baylor University, where he led Bill Henderson's Baylor Bears in scoring and rebounding in each of his two seasons. In 1960, he averaged 16.4 points as a senior to earn All-Southwest Conference honors.

In 1963, he returned to Baylor as an assistant to Head Coach Bill Menefee. He later succeeded Menefee as head coach in 1973, remaining in that position for more than three seasons. After spending two years as a scout for the Dallas Cowboys at the call of executive Gil Brandt, Dawson started a career as a salesman for Converse Shoe Company.

Dawson has been honored with induction into the Paris Junior College Hall of Fame in 1991, the Baylor University Hall of Fame in 1998, the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame in 2001, and the Texas Sports Hall of Fame in 2003. He was also named Mr. Sportsman 2005 by Interfaith Charities in Houston. In 2010, Dawson was honored as a Baylor Basketball Legend by the 'B' Association. In addition, he was named the President of the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Remaining with the Rockets as a Senior Consultant, Dawson resides in Houston with his wife, Sharon. Sharon has a daughter, Elizabeth, and a son, Michael.
